

NECMEC Studied IT /We TEACH IT

A recent study conducted by the National Center for Missing Exploited Children they reaffirmed a smaller study done in 2002 with very similar results. They discovered in abduction of children by strangers if the child; Yells, Runs, Kicks or Strikes back they have an 83% rate of escaping the abduction attempt at the scene.

There is only one comprehensive life skills and safety education program in the nation today that teaches these skills to children.

The radKIDS Personal Empowerment Safety Education Program

There is a big difference in teaching our children realistic, instinct based safety skills and education rather than telling them what to do or do not.

Is it not time to teach our children what we want them to know and do if someone is trying to hurt them, rather than tell them what we hope they will do?

Take action today and contact www.radKIDS.org to see how you can share these life skills with your child, your family and your community
